

I promise to fulfill, to the best of my ability and judgement, this covenant:

I will respect the hard-won gains of female fire service leaders in whose steps I follow.

I will not enter into any relationship that creates even the appearance of impropriety in ethically carrying out this creed. My sole responsibility is to Lesley Prather Empowerment Campers, helping them to take charge of their drive, encouraging them to cheer for each other, and pursue health and happiness.

I will not hurt anyone, and I will protect us from harm.

I will apply, for the benefit of each girl, all available instructional supports and resources, in the knowledge and conviction that we each learn differently, and that everyone can learn.

I will not be ashamed to say "I don't know" as I model inquiry, risk-taking, collaboration, perseverance and resilience for Campers.

I will respect the dignity of our Campers and their caretakers, for they are entrusted into my safekeeping. I will tread with care as they work through challenges and frustrations. Everyone deserves many chances to dream, learn and be successful.

I will foster a learning environment where we are healthy, safe, engaged, supported and challenged, so Campers may flourish at their current interest and ability levels and grow to realize their full potential.

In honoring this oath, may I enjoy a robust experience, respected and remembered with affection thereafter. May my interactions leave this world a better place than I found it. Most importantly, may I spark in the girls a healthy curiosity, self-respect, a thirst for discovery, and the hunger to be life-long learners who contribute to the greater good.

May I live like Lesley.

May I be a Rhyan.
